

Which of the following accurately pairs the lobe of the brain and the processes for which it supports? A. Temporal lobe–making judgments B. Occipital lobe–hearing and smell C. Frontal lobe–vision D. Parietal lobe–reading and speech

The functions of the different lobes are as follows: The temporal lobe processes auditory input, or sound. The occipital lobe carries out visual processing. The frontal lobe is involved in judgement, decision, problem solving and many other functions of the sort. The parietal lobe is involved in processing language. Therefore, this is the correct option.

Answer:

the answer would be D

Explanation:

i just took the test

Technicians have installed a center pivot, circular irrigator for a farm that covers 25 acres. a.) How long is the irrigation boom (in feet) from the center pivot to its farthest extent?

b.) If the irrigation boom makes 4 full revolutions in a day, how many miles does the end of the boom travel in 5 days?

Over the past 100 years the amount of fossil fuel consumption has

There are 24 girls and 16 boys in band. if 9 girls and) boys drop out of band to join choir, is the ratio of boys to girls the same?

Solve the system of equations below $-3xy+6y=9$

Select the reasons that Congress wanted a written Declaration of Independence. -The colonies wanted help from other nations in Europe.

-The men wanted to have a group document that would reduce their individual liability if the effort failed.

-The soldiers needed a good reason for fighting and dying.

-The English government had requested a written statement of demands.

-Not very many people had believed the non-written declaration made a month before.

-They hoped that more colonists would join the revolution.

Which statement reflects the level of success of the missionaries' efforts in Japan?

A) Missionaries gained support of the Government by paying a tax to set up churches and missions

B) Missionaries efforts were restricted by the governments and had little influence in gaining converts

C) Missionaries gained the trust of local communities and converted millions of people to Christianity

You spent a total of $6.75 for 15 yards of ribbon. How much did the ribbon cost per yard?

If you feel a strong dislike or hostility toward something, you can be described as experiencing a. apathy

b. pathology

c. empathy

d. antipathy

In the Election of 1860, ____ Party was represented by Stephen Douglas, but only won the state of Missouri in the General Election.

What kind of advantage does a country have if it can make a product more inexpensively?

_____ is a process where ordered pairs of points that solve an equation are found. The points are plotted on a grid and then connected with a smooth curve.

an audio CD has a diameter of 120 mm and spins at up to 540 rpm. When a CD is spinning at its maximum rate, how much time is required for one revolution?

Of a speck of dust rides on the outside edge of the disk,

Mr Zucco baked a total of 270 cupcakes and muffins. After he sold $\frac{1}{3}$ of the cupcakes and baked 18 more muffins, he had twice as many cupcakes as muffins.

How many cupcakes and muffins did Mr. Zucco bake to begin with?

Professor Zinn suggests that depression may stem from the impact of stressful experiences on molecular structures that control gene expression. The professor's suggestion most clearly highlights the importance of a) explanatory styles. b) epigenetic influences. c) rumination. d) learned helplessness.

What is the sum for expression $2\frac{3}{4} + 1\frac{1}{4} + 3\frac{1}{2}$

Why do you think the Church wanted to forbid people to read certain books?

El policía _____ las excusas del conductor. acepté

aceptó

aceptamos

aceptar

What theme is portrayed in this excerpt from Leo Tolstoy's The Death of Ivan Ilyich? In reality it was just what is usually seen in the houses of people of moderate means who want to appear rich, and therefore succeed only in resembling others like themselves: there are damasks, dark wood, plants, rugs, and dull and polished bronzes—all the things people of a certain class have in order to resemble other people of that class. His house was so like the others that it would never have been noticed, but to him it all seemed to be quite exceptional. He was very happy when he met his family at the station and brought them to the newly furnished house all lit up, where a footman in a white tie opened the door into the hall decorated with plants, and when they went on into the drawing-room and the study uttering exclamations of delight. He conducted them everywhere, drank in their praises eagerly, and beamed with pleasure. a. the effect of consumerism b. the power of wealth c. keeping up appearances in society d. conforming to societal conventions

1. Home
2. More Solution